Social Services

Q. My family and I have just arrived in Ontario from Haiti. We have no money and nowhere to stay.

Ontario Works provides temporary financial and employment assistance for people who are in immediate financial need.

An individual may apply for Ontario Works by phone or in person through their nearest Ontario Works office.

The government of Ontario has set up an information line for evacuees from Haiti, toll-free at 1-866-614-5951. Individuals can be referred to their nearest Ontario Works office by calling this number. Translation services are available for those who do not speak fluent English.

You don't require a fixed address to apply for Ontario Works; people with no fixed address are considered to reside in the area where they apply for assistance.

The local Ontario Works office can also refer people to a local emergency shelter if they have nowhere to stay. While staying at the emergency shelter, individuals/families will receive money or in-kind services for personal needs from the shelter's operator, and may access benefits and employment assistance through Ontario Works, if eligible.

Once an individual/family eligible for Ontario Works has found suitable accommodation, they may receive funds from Ontario Works to assist with the costs of setting up a new residence (e.g. rental deposit, furniture, etc.).

For assistance in locating your local Ontario Works office, please visit the Ministry of Community and Social Services website at: www.mcscs.gov.on.ca and follow the "Social Assistance" link on the home page.

Q. How long does it take to apply and what do I do for money in the meantime?

Eligibility for Ontario Works is based on the individual's personal and financial circumstances, including residency in Ontario, status in Canada (e.g. Canadian citizen), age, income, and participation in employment assistance activities.

Emergency assistance may be provided while people await a decision regarding their eligibility.

Q. What documents do I need to apply for financial help? What if I don't have these documents?

To complete the Ontario Works application for financial help, applicants need:

- A Social Insurance Number
- A OHIP number
- Proof of identity and date of birth
- Employment history/information
- Income and asset statements
- Documentation outlining shelter costs (if applicable) and
- Proof of status in Canada (e.g. Certificate of Canadian citizenship, refugee protection claimant document, temporary resident permit, etc.).

Staff at the local Ontario Works office will help individuals through this process. Some flexibility regarding required documents can be used for people arriving from Haiti.

Q. Does Ontario Works require me to look for work?

To be eligible for Ontario Works applicants must be willing to participate in employment assistance activities.

Participation in employment assistance activities may be deferred for a number of reasons such as pregnancy or injury.

For people/families arriving from Haiti, the initial participation activity can be finding more permanent, stable housing.

Q. What if I'm disabled and can't participate in employment activities. Will I be cut off from Ontario Works?

People with disabilities can apply for the Ontario Disability Support Program. Please call the emergency information line for evacuees from Haiti, toll-free at 1-866-614-5951. Staff will be able to refer individuals to their nearest Ontario Disability Support Program office.

For further information about the Ontario Disability Support Program, please visit the Ministry of Community and Social Services website at: www.mcscs.gov.on.ca and follow the "Social Assistance" link on the home page.

Q. My child is disabled and I don't know where to go for help?

People applying for financial help may qualify to receive additional money through Ontario's Assistance for Children with Severe Disabilities program to help care for a disabled child.

Individuals can ask about this benefit when applying for financial assistance through their nearest Ontario Works office.

Q. Will I have to pay back any financial assistance I receive?

If Canadians arriving from Haiti are not able to access their income and assets, these assets will not be included in the determination of eligibility for financial assistance in Ontario.
